The image contains a page from a document that outlines course requirements for a program. The document is structured into sections for Essential Studies Requirements, Communication Skills, Breadth of Knowledge, Special Emphasis, and Major Electives. Each section lists courses with their respective credits and designations. The document also includes a section for Social Studies Major Requirements and a note on the minimum G.P.A. required for program admission.

The document is part of the BSED Composite Social Studies program at the UND College of Education and Human Development. It mentions the minimum G.P.A. of 2.75 required for program admission and includes details on how to meet the requirements, such as completing specific courses and passing certain exams. The page also mentions the need for 30 volunteer hours for VITAL and the requirement for satisfactory completion of a field experience.

The document concludes with a note on the role of programs preparing teacher educators in compliance with Title II, Higher Education Act, and maintaining information related to the North Dakota Education Standards and Practices Board.
