Greetings from the Office of Field Placement & Student Teaching!

We are excited that you may be interested in hosting our teacher candidates in your classroom! By logging in to this URL below, you will be taken through the steps to enroll in our online asynchronous course that will ensure you are able to host our candidates from now into the future! Our accrediting body requires that all our cooperating teachers (host teachers) have taken a course that prepares them for the challenges ahead; therefore, we have created this online course especially for you – a hard-working, REAL professional who carries a large load in teaching!

Please complete the following steps to get registered and begin the course online:

1. Go to this URL: http://educators.und.edu/workshop/?id=UBB.SPRVSN.STTCHRS

2. Register for the course

3. IMPORTANT PAYMENT INFORMATION - UND Teacher Education will pay for your credit fee for this online course IF you are willing to host our candidates for student teaching periodically. When you register for the course, continue to Checkout and please indicate "Third Party Payment" under the Payment Information section. Put the following information into the open cell to provide the billing information: Dr. Anne Walker, UND Teacher Education, 231 Centennial Dr., Stop 7189, Grand Forks, ND 58202

4. Once you have registered, you will find the course on Blackboard – The Continuing Education people will provide an information sheet to you after you have registered so you will have a guide to accessing the course.

5. You will have 4 months to complete the course on your schedule, and will only take a total of 15 hours to complete.

I truly look forward to having you in our class! Students will work independently and at their own pace to complete the assignments. Please email or call Melissa Burdick, Administrative Secretary, or if you have any questions or concerns at 701-777-4128 or Jenny Bladow at jenny.bladow@und.edu or 701-777-3142
