CEHD Happenings

As we enter the new year, CEHD is introducing some new programs that are designed to bring education to more students. With the support of the Burgum Foundation, we have launched our first cohort in the Rural Master's Education program, a cornerstone in our goal of supporting rural schools: (<http://blogs.und.edu/und-today/2020/12/new-scholarship-helps-rural-north-dakota-teachers-and-their-hometown-schools/>).

We have 4 new online undergraduate programs: Elementary Education, Kinesiology, Public Health Education, and Rehabilitation & Human Services. These online options will allow student access to high-quality UND education, wherever they may live. The Master's program in Counseling has also launched an online program this semester, with the goal of providing better access to training in addiction, community mental health, rehabilitation, and school counseling. Improving access and preparing qualified professionals for under-served communities are two important ways that CEHD can contribute to a healthy and vibrant future.

CEHD is initiating a college-wide effort to address issues of equity, inclusion, and justice in our curriculum, admissions processes, hiring practices, and college climate. Social justice, diversity and inclusion have long been College priorities, and we are working intently to make sure that our policies and practices match that goal. More details will follow in the coming months and years, as we engage in this thoughtful and long-term process.

Something to think about....

"Tell me and I'll forget. Show me and I may remember. Involve me and I learn."

~Benjamin Franklin

We strive for increased student engagement every day in CEHD!
